

Dad in her corner, Sindhu hits the start button

World champion's father Ramana has gone the extra mile to protect her as training resumes after lockdown amidst rising cases

SHIVANI NAIK
MUMBAI, AUGUST 14

PV Ramana has told national coach P Gopichand that no one beyond coach Park Tae Sang, Gopichand and him are to enter the training hall till Sindhu is on court. File

PV RAMANA, father of the world champion PV Sindhu, said he has categorically told national coach P Gopichand that no one beyond coach Park Tae Sang, Gopichand and him are to enter the academy training hall till Sindhu is on court, once the camp resumes. Ramana said the added caution was necessary after fellow shuttler Sikki Reddy and physio Kiran Challangundla tested Covid-positive on Thursday.

"I have told Mr Gopi that once we resume and Sindhu's session is from 6-8.30 am, I'll come in advance at 5.30 and personally check how the court is sanitised. We'll leave by 8.30. He can start the next session at 9. But if anyone enters the hall in that time allotted to Sindhu, then from the next day, we'll not go for training," Ramana said.

He added that he had told the coach to hold exclusive sessions for Sindhu, but Gopichand had stressed that he was duty-bound to pay attention to others, including World championship medallist Sai Praneeth and former No 1 Kidambi Srikanth.

While Sindhu had an exclusive session to herself from August 7 when the camp started, a slight overlap with other campers coming in from 8 am and getting ready to train on other courts had annoyed her father.

While 11 camp members underwent a second RT-PCR test on Friday, having come in contact with the infected duo over the course of training and a gym session, Ramana insisted Sindhu hadn't practised with others, and wouldn't need a test so soon after the one carried out on August 11, results of which came the next day.

"She trained with Park and Gopi came on two days for her session - 7th and 10th - which was multi-shuttle day. She only must have said a passing Hi! to Sikki but didn't interact with anyone. On 13th, it was only me and Park with Sindhu," he explained.

Sindhu will continue her physical conditioning and gym work at the Suchitra Academy. "They have a lot of manpower there so every piece of gym equipment is wiped clean with Dettol liquid before she arrives. So in the evening, two hours are exclusively for Sindhu," he said.

Ramana has gone to extreme lengths to protect the space around Sindhu and listed

No protocols for players outside camp a blind spot

Mumbai: A day after national camper Sikki Reddy and physiotherapist Kiran C tested positive for COVID-19, 11 other members at the camp took a second test, results of which are expected on Sunday.

While the Sports Authority of India (SAI) insisted that they had put in place strict social-distancing guidelines for the players, coaches and trainers at the Gopichand Badminton Academy in Hyderabad, questions remain about the Standard Operating Procedure (SOP) for shuttlers once they leave the camp.

Among the elite shuttlers; locals PV Sindhu, Sai Praneeth, Kidambi Srikanth and Reddy, along with chief national coach Pullela Gopichand, aren't based at the academy.

According to a SAI official, there are no

11 other members at the camp took a second test, results of which are expected on Sunday

"SOPs for players while they are at home or they are traveling". A camper too confirmed. "It's impossible to control every action inside homes so there's no SOP for homes. But the logic is that we are being extremely careful in taking care of our own health and safety, and it's plain unlucky the two tested positive because they had taken utmost precautions".

Questions are also being asked about the players being tested after the camp had resumed. Giving an explanation, a SAI official said, "It was a risk (to start the camp before tests) but the only thing was they were all locals and hadn't flown in from anywhere. When they joined the camp, they had no symptoms and were physically fit. Even though they were locals, we conducted tests because it was a SAI protocol."

Elaborating further and blaming the state for the timing of the tests, the official added, "Test is upon arrival but we have to depend on the state government to do the test. It was intimated to the state government, but they did not have the wherewithal and were able to give us time for the test on the 11th. It was the earliest date the government gave us."

Regional league to CL semis in 11 years, Leipzig continue to rise

REUTERS

LISBON, AUGUST 14

THERE IS little in modern football that can truly be described as a fairytale romance but RB Leipzig's journey from Germany's regional league system to the last four of the Champions League in just 11 years surely gets close.

The 2-1 victory over Atletico Madrid at the Estadio Jose Alvalade on Thursday sent Leipzig, from the former East Germany, into the semi-finals where they will face Paris St Germain. Not even the most ambitious of those involved in the creation of the club in 2009 could have imagined their team being 90 minutes away from the biggest game in European club football. The fact that the rapid rise has been bankrolled by Austrian energy drink company Red Bull, after its billionaire owner Dietrich Mateschitz found a way to get around the Bundesliga's restrictions on companies owning a majority stake in clubs, has left Leipzig unloved by many in German football.

But their success is about much more than the finances of Mateschitz, who took over amateur club SSV Markranstaedt in 2009 and turned them into RasenBallsport Leipzig - literally Lawn Ball Leipzig.

The name allowed them to use the company's RB initials. The 88th minute winning goal came from American substitute Tyler Adams, a player who started out in the Red Bull academy in New York as a 12-year-old before coming through the ranks. He played for MLS's New York Red Bulls before joining Leipzig last year.

Red Bull also own Austrian club RB Salzburg and have a presence in Brazil.

Rizwan shines on a gloomy day as Pakistan frustrate England

SANDIP G
AUGUST 14

PAKISTAN EMERGED from the second day in better shape than they might have anticipated, on the back of a combative unbeaten 60 from Mohammad Rizwan and some shabby bowling from England. When bad light stopped play, half an hour into the final session, Pakistan were 223/9 in 86 overs.

In the conventional sense, the score is incompetent. But given the amount of swing the surface generated, and the fast-bowling ammo at their disposal, Pakistan would be sufficiently pleased with their comeback. Even 200, at one stage, had looked dreamy.

When Stuart Broad nailed Babar Azam with a near-unplayable delivery, Pakistan were truly under the weather. They were 158 for 6 and in danger of being bowled out imminently. But in these difficult moments, Pakistan habitually summon an unseemly streak of defiance and energy. Rizwan embodied that spirit.

The 28-year-old is a pugnacious batsman with a sturdy technique and admirable game sense. Ever keen for a scrap, like the prototypical Pakistani wicket-keeper batsman, he altered his approach according to the aptitude of his partner. With Azam, he was cautious and eager to rotate the strike, with Yasir he started to embrace a few risks, and with the tail-enders, he began to manufacture strokes. Like a cheeky little ramp and slash cut off a Sam Curran over, before he smeared Chris Woakes through covers.

Down with the last man, Naseem Shah, he threw caution to the wind, clattering Broad through covers and running every run frantically. Thus with the last four, he added 65 valuable runs in an extremely trying conditions for batting. Rizwan's three partners collected just eight runs, but they ate up 56 deliveries and led efficient support to the 'keeper-batsman. It was a masterclass on shepherding the lower-order batsmen.

What would anger England, even more, is that the conditions could not have been more ideal for swing bowling - the floodlights shimmered all day long and the skies were heavily overcast. The ball not only seamed off the pitch but swung nicely in orthodox fashion throughout the day. If it was not a lightning-fast surface, there was adequate carry through. But the conditions needed harnessing, which England managed only in bursts.

In the first session that lasted barely an hour, Azam and Rizwan batted vigilantly to stave off an early detour. A bit of resistance was expected from Pakistan's last pair of designated batsmen, but England's bowling was wayward and inconsistent, with batsmen allowed the luxury of leaving too many deliveries and those that they were not full enough to tempt the drive. As much as 52 percent of deliveries

29 Eng, Aus players to miss IPL opening week

London: England and Australia's IPL-bound players are likely to miss the first week of the IPL after it was announced that the two teams will play six white-ball games from September 4-16 at Southampton and Manchester. The latest that the players can touch base in UAE is September 17 or 18 and as per the IPL SOP, will be quarantined for six days with RT-PCR tests on day 1, 3 and 6. On the seventh day, they will be entering the bio-bubble provided they test negative on all three occasions. Meanwhile, Australia's senior assistant coach Andrew McDonald will the tour owing to a pre-existing commitment with Rajasthan Royals. PTI landed in the good-length zone, providing ample time for the batsmen to judge the deviation.

Pakistan, especially Azam, batted with calm authority. His clarity of method stood out - he kept leaving outside the off-stump and forced the bowlers to shift their line into his body. His judgement of swing was immaculate, as was the fluidity of his feet. But a big score still eluded him, as England began to probe fuller lengths after lunch and reaped instant reward. Broad's fuller-length delivery straightened just enough to square Babar up and shave the outside edge, ending a stubborn stand.

Shortly, Anderson winked out Yasir Shah with another full delivery, and the inexperienced lower order was waiting to be wiped away. But guided by Rizwan, they not only frustrated the bowlers but also nudged their total past 200, which had seemed inconceivable at one stage. It was a bizarrely wayward day for England's support cast bowlers. The usually disciplined Woakes, whose methods seemed tailor-made for the prevailing conditions, erred too often to leg-side, provoking furtive glances from 'keeper Jos Butter. Curran seemed to have lost his ability to curl the ball back into the right-hander, which had made him a deadly proposition in the series against India two years ago.

In the end, it was down to the grand old firm of Broad and Anderson to resuscitate them. Anderson seemed to have put an indifferent year behind him, while Broad continued his rich vein of form, picking three or more wickets for the seventh time in succession. Both, though, would readily admit that they had laid ideal swing-bowling conditions to waste. BRIEFSCORES: Pak 223/9 (M Rizwan 60*, A Ali 60, B Azam 47; J Anderson 3/48, S Broad 3/56) vs Eng

कमरे से बदनू आने पर दी गई पुलिस को जानकारी

पुलिस को नहीं मिला सुसाइड नोट
बाल रोग विभाग में कार्यरत थे डॉक्टर

पुलिस इस मामले में आगे की कार्रवाई कर रही है। कुछ दिन पहले 10 अगस्त को डॉक्टर विकास ने छात्रावास की छत से कूद कर अपनी जान दी थी। दक्षिणी पूर्वी जिला पुलिस उपयुक्त अतुल कुमार ठाकुर ने बताया कि डॉक्टर मोहित सिंघल मूलरूप पंचकुला, चंडीगढ़ के रहने वाले थे। वह एम्स में बाल रोग विभाग में कार्यरत थे और गौतम नगर में दूसरी मंजिल पर एक मकान में रहते थे। इस मकान में वह साल 2006 से अकेले

ही रह रहे थे। सूचना मिलने पर जब पुलिस की टीम उनके कमरे पर पहुंची तो पाया कि कमरा अंदर से बंद है और बदनू आ रही है। टीम दरवाजा तोड़कर अंदर दाखिल हुई तो पता चला कि मोहित फांसी के फंदे पर लटके हुए हैं। शव पूरी तरह से गल चुका था।

आगे की छानबीन में पुलिस को पता चला कि वह 11 अगस्त को वह एम्स में अपनी इयूटी पर गए थे। उसके बाद से उनका कुछ पता नहीं था। पुलिस मान कर चल रही है कि उन्होंने कुछ दिनों पहले ही आत्महत्या कर ली होगी। सुसाइड नोट की जांच के बाद आत्महत्या के सही कारणों का पता चल सकेगा। फिलहाल पुलिस ने इसकी जानकारी उनके परिजनों को दे दिया है और आगे की कार्रवाई कर रही है।
